

THE ART OF LIVING WELL

Sofacompany.com has brought its passion for Scandi styling to Cape Town's De Waterkant with the opening of the biggest Danish-design furniture showroom in the country. Spanning 760m², the Grand Showroom provides a welcoming space where customers can see and test out over 150 of the brand's retro-inspired pieces. Think velour-upholstered seating in rich shades, minimalist dining tables and chairs, corner units and footrests in muted colourways, and swish society coffee tables. Also on show is Sofacompany.com's Spring/Summer 2018 collection, which sees Mid-Century Modern shapes fused with fresh, classic styling and hues. This all comes together in one inviting designer place that reflects the Danish concept of hygge – the art of living well. Cut from the same cloth

Known for his magnificent illustrations that whisk viewers away into a fantastical wonderland of birds, flowers, animals and plants, Berlin-based artist Olaf Hajek is expanding his repertoire with a textile collection by Rohleder Home Collection. The German weaving mill has a reputation for producing top-quality textiles that are anything but mainstream, making Hajek – with his eye for the unusual yet opulent – an obvious collaborator. Characterised by its deep colours, plush detailing and, of course, Hajek's imaginative creations, the collection comprises varying fabric types accompanied by a homeware range of scatter cushions, pouffes, woven pictures, curtains and a folding screen. rohleder-home-collection.com, olafhajek.com
